

CF597 COUNSELING INTERNSHIP II

FALL, 2022 – PHOENIX SEMINARY

Professor: Kuo-Yi Chung, Ph.D.
Contact Information: kuoyichung@gmail.com
Office Hours: By Appointment

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The Counseling Internship is a supervised work experience in professional counseling. Counseling interns work under the supervision of a licensed mental health provider performing all the activities that a regularly employed professional counselor would be expected to perform. The internship is designed to integrate the students' learning into the practical application of theory, research, and techniques/skills. Interns complete 300 clock hours at their internship site during CF597 Counseling Internship II. Classroom component accompanies field placement. Students average one hour a week of individual and/or triadic supervision at their site and 90 minutes of group supervision. This is the third of three consecutive field education courses required for graduation. By the end of these three courses students must complete a total of 700 clock hours in a professional counseling setting; including 240 direct client contact hours, AND lead or co-lead a counseling or psychoeducational group.

[3 hours. Instructor: Dr. Kuo-Yi Chung. Frequency: Every Semester. Required for: MAC.
Prerequisites: at least 42 counseling hours including CF596 Internship I.]

COURSE OUTCOMES

At the end of the course, the student will demonstrate the ability to:

1. Participate effectively in an established mental health care delivery system.
2. Effectively use counseling skills to join, assess, and intervene with clients.
3. Identify strategies for helping people to deal with their problems that are both biblical and empirically supported.
4. Apply relevant ethical principles and legal standards to the provision of counseling services.
5. Identify professional training needs and implement an action plan to address those needs.
6. Competently and ethically explore bio-psycho-socio-spiritual assessment and treatment with clients.

SEMINARY ACADEMIC POLICIES

All Seminary policies affecting student work, appeals, and grievances, as outlined in the Student Handbook and/or Seminary Catalog will apply, unless otherwise indicated in this syllabus. See the respective sections of the Student Handbook.

Attendance Policy

One of the strengths of Phoenix Seminary is the classroom interaction between instructors and students. Attendance and participation are essential components of the training process. An absence is defined as when a student does not attend a class period whether it be for an on campus or an online course. Watching a recorded lecture in lieu of attending class does not constitute attendance. When a student is going to be absent, it is important that the student consult with the instructor in advance about work to be missed. In the case of extenuating circumstances, students may request an exception to this policy by submitting a petition to the Academic Petition Committee.

Excessive absences may result in grade reduction or course failure as indicated on the following chart:

COURSE FORMAT	REDUCED GRADE	COURSE FAILURE
15-week	2 nd missed class	4 th missed class

Assignment Policies

Papers should be formatted according to the APA Publication Manual 7 (Professional Paper elements and formatting). Papers will be submitted via e-mail by 11:59 PM on the date due. Assignments must be submitted on time. If an extenuating circumstance prevents your completing an assignment on time you must notify me and arrange for its completion with me ahead of time. You may leave messages for me on my e-mail or voice mail 24 hours a day. I will accept late work, or schedule make up work ONLY if I have discussed the matter with you in a timely fashion AND I believe your situation warrants it.

Statement of Learning and Therapy

Learning counseling skills and discussing counseling topics inevitably raises personal emotions, thoughts, and memories. In order to maintain a healthy learning environment it is necessary that students be able to ask questions and voice their discomfort in an emotionally safe setting. Students are expected to demonstrate patience and respect toward colleagues who may struggle with experiences and material for personal reasons. Consideration, caring, humility, self-control, and confidentiality are required. While the preceptor and site supervisors are available to help students grow professionally, individual and group supervision is not therapy.

Students are expected to persist in counseling skills, course content, and therapeutic relationships despite personal reactions. The ability to focus on others regardless of whatever personal situations are occurring is a hallmark of counseling. Areas of personal growth and healing are often areas of our most effective ministry. Should a student experience acute or ongoing distress due to a client or class experience or exercises they are encouraged to speak individually with the site supervisor, the preceptor, the Dean of Students, their mentor, or a counselor. Referrals to area professional counselors are available if needed.

Courteous Use of Technology in the Classroom (phone, tablet, laptop)

Phoenix Seminary considers a student's character to be evidenced in part by their respect for their classmates, professors, and their valuable time in class. Please consider how not to be rude in the use of your technology by bearing in mind the following:

- Laptops and tablets are welcome in class to take notes and to access readings we're discussing. Using them for anything else (social networking, accessing non-course related websites, checking email) is discourteous and distracting to others.
- Phones must be silenced in class and stowed. That includes turning off the vibrate function. (We can hear it buzzing.) Is texting ok? No. If an emergency situation exists out of which you feel you must use your phone you should quietly step out of class to do so.
